THE EXOTIC PLANT COMPANY,

Under new Management.

Presents Laredo, Tex

A Spring get together offer to it's old Customers

The policy of the new Management of this Company is to pass on to the Customer any advantage which might be enjoyed by us such as the present good fortune in having made new connections with gatherers in the field by which fresh plants may be obtained at good prices. This new shipment is limited but will consist of the best plants obtainable from the wild in the Species named in the following list. Please place your order early and be sure to obtain your share of the freshly collected plants.

CATTLEYA CITRINA: This plant is now showing bud. Many of these will arrive before their blooming season and should make good Mother's Day presents. The flowers which droop are of good texture, soft golden yellow and very fragrant, hence the name Citrina from their resemblance to the smell of fresh Lemons. Although the flower does not open up as well as Laelia Grandiflora, it is practically as large. The droopy form gives it the appearance of a Tulip and it is from this that the name Tulip Orchid originated. A good plant and a good bloomer.

Price . . . $3.50

CATTLEYA SKINNERII: A good Cattleya and quite hardy, requiring about the same care that most of the more hardy Cattleyas need. Grows well attached to a good piece of Oak Limb with the bark on it and with plenty of water and a good amount of light throughout the summer months. The flowers are a Rose Violet color and grow in a cluster of from five to fifteen, each flower being from three to five inches across. This shipment will consist of good plants ready to establish for next years growth.

Price . . . $3.00

BRASSAVOLAE GLAUCA: Another close relative of the Laelias which at times is referred to as Laelia Glauca. This large flower is very fragrant, white after the first flush of creamy green which is always a fore runner of the white species, with a small suffusion of purple and yellow in the throat. A very desirable Orchid. Large plants.

Price . . . $2.50

EPIDENDRUM ALATUM: An ovid bulb type Epidendrum much resembling E. Nemorale and E. Autropurpureum in form. The blooms are very fragrant and quite large, growing in a spike of from five to twelve flowers about two inches across. The Lip is very soft purple and the Sepals and Petals are of a brownish green color. The flowers are very attractive.

Price . . . $3.00

EPIDENDRUM NEMORALE: This is a very lovely orchid when it sports it's Violet Mauve, three inches blossoms in the multi-blossomed spike of from eight to thirty blossoms of a lovely fragrance. This plant is coming in limited numbers. Orders will be filled according to the amount received trying to allow as many to each order as possible. Large plants.

Price . . . $3.00

ODONTOGLOSSUM CITROSMUM: An odontoglossum which in form of flower much resembles a Phalinopsis. It's fragrance is very pleasing as also is the soft beauty of it's many flowered pendant spikes of fair sized flowers.

Price . . . $3.50

ONCIDIUM LEUCOEHLEUM: Another very fragrant Orchid which has long sprays of chestnut colored flowers with a sizeable white lip. This is a good plant to furnish arching spikes among the more upright growing Orchids.

Price . . . $2.50
